Course Description

This course emphasizes types of services and facilities provided, needs and problems of client population served, role and function of counselor in agency setting, and personnel needs of the individual agency.

Prerequisites: Admission to the GMU Counseling & Development Program; EDCD 603 (or concurrent)

Course Overview

This class will provide an overview of community agency counseling, the role of the counselor in communities, prevention, outreach, systemic issues, multicultural issues in community agency counseling, advocacy and social change, and service delivery programs. This course is designed to prepare students for the range of legal, ethical, and professional issues they are likely to encounter as a counselor.

Relationship of Course to Program Goals and Professional Organizations

EDCD 654 provides a core required course in the Community Agency Counseling Program and directly relates to the program goals and mission. The course teaches students about social justice, multiculturalism, advocacy, and leadership as community agency counselors, and discusses consultation and ethical issues in community agency work. CACREP standards met include Section II b. (An understanding of the cultural context of relationships, issues and trends in a multicultural and diverse society) and Section II e. (An understanding of counseling and the consultation process).

Note: This syllabus is subject to change at the instructor's discretion based on the needs of the class.

Professional Dispositions

The American Counseling Association (ACA) code of ethics requires counselors and counselor trainees to maintain standards of professional competence and possess good moral character. The George Mason University Counseling & Development Program has adopted a set of professional performance criteria that is consistent with the ACA code of ethics. Please refer to these dispositions, which may be found at <http://gse.gmu.edu/programs/counseling/resources>.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a violation of both the George Mason University code of honor and the expected professional dispositions of the Counseling & Development Program. The GMU English Department has developed the following statement regarding plagiarism: "Plagiarism means using the exact words, opinion, or factual information from another person without giving that person credit. Writers give credit through the use of accepted documentation styles, such as parenthetical citation, footnotes, or end notes; a simple listing of books and articles is not sufficient. Plagiarism is the equivalent of intellectual robbery and cannot be tolerated in an academic setting. Student writers are often confused as to what should be cited. Some think that only direct quotations need to be credited. While direct quotations do need citations, so do paraphrases and summaries of opinions or factual information formerly unknown to the writers or which the writers did not discover themselves. Exceptions to this include factual information which can be obtained from a variety of sources, the writer's own insights or findings from their own field research, and what has been termed common knowledge. What constitutes common knowledge can sometimes be precarious, and what is common knowledge for one audience may be so for another. In such situations, it is helpful to keep the reader in mind and to think of citations as being reader friendly. In other words, writers provide a citation for any piece of information that they think their readers might want to investigate further. Not only is this attitude considerate of readers and establishes credibility, it will almost certainly ensure that writers will never be guilty of plagiarism."

Wheeler, A. M., & Bertram, B. (2008). The counselor and the law: A guide to legal and ethical practice (5th ed.). Alexandria, VA: American Counseling Association.

Recommended Texts

American Psychological Association (2009). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Course Requirements

Each student is expected to: (1) attend each class, (2) complete all reading assignments before class, (3) arrive on time and stay for the entire class period, and (4) participate in discussions and in-class work groups. Turn off and put away all electronic communication devices during class. Notify the instructor prior to class if you have an emergency situation that requires accommodation.

Students in Counseling & Development courses are expected to use APA style for written papers. Links to additional information regarding APA guidelines may be found on the Counseling & Development resource page, <http://gse.gmu.edu/programs/counseling/resources>.

Course Assignments

All assignments are to be submitted prior to the beginning of class on the date due via SafeAssignment on the course Blackboard site. Paper copies will not be accepted. Late homework assignments will be subject to a penalty of 20% for each day late. Additional assignments and/or assessments may be added at the instructor's discretion.

Community Agency Presentation

For this assignment, you will find an agency that provides counseling services. You might consider a population or counseling issue that you are interested in working with in the future as a counselor, or an agency at which you might want to complete your Practicum/Internship (not your current workplace). You will then gather information about this agency, including conducting an interview with an agency staff member (ideally, a counselor or mental health professional).

Using your interview and other information gathered, summarize the services offered and other relevant information. Also, consider what services are not offered that could be beneficial to the agency's clients and community. Be sure to consider relevant social justice and multicultural issues related to the agency, community, and clients. Present your findings to the class. You will submit an agency information form to the Bb discussion site and turn in a hard copy of your thank you note to the person that you interviewed.

Consultation Proposal

Identify an issue or area of growth for the agency that could positively impact the clients/community served. You should use your interview with the community agency along with your own knowledge and assessment to guide your proposal. Taking on the role of a consultant (internal or external) to the agency, you will study the issue and develop a consultation proposal. The proposal will include background information and proposed consultation procedures, both grounded in relevant literature and practices.

You must adhere to APA (6th ed.) guidelines. At a minimum, you should use 5 references from peer-reviewed journals (preferably counseling journals). Your paper should be approximately 6-7 pages, not including the title page and reference page(s).

Professional Development Presentation

Select a topic of interest to you to share with the class in a short presentation and discussion. The topic can be an educational or counseling resource, current event, legal/ethical issue, or anything else that can assist in developing your knowledge and skills as a future community agency counselor. The topic should reflect the C&D mission, with attention to social justice and multicultural issues in counseling. Plan to share information about the topic and facilitate discussion with your classmates for 15-20 minutes. Write a one-page summary about your topic; upload to the Bb Discussion site to share with your classmates.

Reading Takeaways

Prior to each class meeting, you will post a reflection on the reading(s) on the Discussion site in Bb. You should submit at least two postings each week. Postings can include: salient points from the readings, questions about the readings, topics for discussion based on the readings. You can integrate readings and information from other classes and sources, and also respond to your classmates' postings. We will also use these postings as topics for in-class discussions.

Attendance

In accordance with the policies of the Counseling and Human Development Program, on-time attendance at every class meeting is expected. Late arrival to class will be considered an absence. Two or more unexcused absences will result in loss of course credit. Attendance on the first day of class is required.
