Summer 2012 Class Meetings

Tuesday and Thursday 4:30-7:10PM, June 4-July 26, 2012

Please note that due to the nature of this course, our class may not meet on campus for every scheduled session. Group meetings and/or discussion online will be required. Specifically, every third week will involve an asynchronous assignment based on a group-led activity/discussion delivered via Blackboard. The dates for those activities are as follows: June 12, June 21, July 3, July 12, and July 24.

Course Description

Foundations of Secondary Education (EDUC 522) offers undergraduate students an analysis of philosophical assumptions, curriculum issues, learning theories, and history associated with current teaching styles. This course further emphasizes applications to all disciplines taught in secondary schools and examines current educational trends and issues in relation to sociology of secondary school settings.

Relationship to Program Goals and Professional Organizations

Through course assignments and formal and informal commentary, Foundations of Secondary Education emphasizes the basic premise and following standards developed by the Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (INTASC):

INTASC: An effective teacher must be able to integrate content knowledge with the specific strengths and needs of students to assure that all students learn and perform at high levels.

1. The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the discipline he or she teaches and can create learning experiences that make these aspects of subject matter meaningful to students.
2. The teacher understands how students learn and develop and can provide learning opportunities that support a student's intellectual, social, and personal development.
3. The teacher understands how students differ in their approaches to learning and creates instructional opportunities that are adapted to diverse learners.
4. The teacher uses an understanding of individual and group motivation and behavior to create a learning environment that encourages positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.
6. The teacher uses knowledge of effective verbal, non-verbal, and media communication techniques and appropriate technology to foster active inquiry, collaboration, and supportive interaction in the classroom.
9. The teacher is a reflective practitioner who continually evaluates the effects of his or her choices and actions on others and who actively seeks out opportunities to grow professionally.

Student Outcomes

Upon completing this course, students will

- Acknowledge and evaluate the varied, competing, and changing purposes of American public education (SOCIAL JUSTICE);

- be aware of the systematic and differing educational opportunities and outcomes available to students, and the forces which alter existing practices in schools (SOCIAL JUSTICE, INNOVATION);
- analyze teaching behaviors and categorize them according to their relationships to research-based practice and major educational philosophies (SOCIAL JUSTICE, COLLABORATION), INTASC Standards II, III;
- examine the relationships among philosophy, curriculum issues, learning theories, history, and teaching styles (RESEARCH-BASED PRACTICE);
- take positions on selected issues in education and analyze how those positions relate to teaching style preferences (COLLABORATION);
- state their own philosophical positions in regard to the following questions:
 - What is the nature of one subject matter area you wish to teach?
 - What are the possibilities of that subject matter area for guiding students toward meaningful learning experiences?
 - What kinds of teaching behaviors will you exhibit to exemplify your philosophical position?

Course Requirements

General

All assignments should be turned in on the due date indicated in the schedule below. All papers must adhere to APA 6th edition formatting included using 12-point Times New Roman font, with one-inch margins, double-spaced. Writing quality (including mechanics, organization, and content) is figured into the overall points for each writing assignment, so please proofread carefully. Late papers and projects will not be accepted without penalty, excepting extraordinary circumstances. All assignments will be submitted via Blackboard. Please be sure you have a working understanding of this platform.

Note: I reserve the right to add, alter, or omit any assignment as necessary during the course.

Reading Reflection Papers (25 points each/75 points total)

You will be required to complete three three-four page (double-spaced) papers focused on synthesis of chapter readings in your Jossey-Bass Reader on Teaching text, Speak and other media. Each paper will require you to seek connections and themes presented in the readings. Specifically, this will include a combination of personal reflections on the provided topic, comments and insights provided by the source and relevant outside sources which enhance the comments and assertions made in your paper. Each paper will be assessed on a combination of the aforementioned components as well as overall writing quality, which includes adherence to writing specifications outlined in the APA 6th edition manual. The rubric for these assignments can be found in the course section of Blackboard.

Reflection paper one: Review of chapters 9, 15 & 18 in Teaching text and Lalee's Kin video: Topic:

Seeking equality/equity

Reflection paper two: Review of chapters 1-3 in Teaching text and Speak book: Topic: Challenges of the teaching profession

Reflection paper three: Review of chapters 13, 14, 16 and 17 in Teaching text: Topic: Exemplary teaching, what does it look like and why is it so difficult to achieve?

Philosophy of Teaching (50 points)

In five-six double-spaced pages, you will describe and illustrate your personal beliefs about teaching based on the salient teaching philosophies discussed in class. In your paper, address a minimum of five of the guiding questions found below. In addition, seek relevant outside sources for additional information and guidance. And finally, examine the standards of an effective teacher from INTASC (found on page one of your syllabus) as well as standards of learning for your content area (both state and national) to help guide you in the development of your teaching philosophy. You will be assessed on the aforementioned criteria in addition to the general writing rubric components from the reflection papers.

Philosophy of Teaching Guiding Questions

- What is the purpose of schooling?
- What is the nature of the learner in the 21st century?
- What is the nature of one subject matter area you wish to teach?
- What are the possibilities of that subject matter area for guiding students toward meaningful learning experiences?
- What kinds of teaching behaviors will you exhibit to exemplify your philosophical position?
- What approaches to classroom management do you prefer?
- What learning theories do you most strongly identify with and why?
- What are your objectives as a teacher?
- What is the role of the teacher with respect to motivation, instruction, assessment, and challenge/support?
- What should teachers do to accommodate diverse learners?
- What teaching methods will you use to work toward your objectives?
- How you intend to measure your effectiveness at reaching your objectives?
- How will you continue to grow as a teacher during the first five years of your career? In the years following?

In addition to the questions above, you can add your own inquiries—be sure to identify the specific questions you address. Each of your answers to the questions you address—a minimum of three between those listed above and those you identify—may also be illustrated with examples from your fieldwork, including from your work with particular students if applicable.

Topical Presentation (50 points total—30 points from group presentation, 20 points from participation in other four group presentations)

At the beginning of the semester you will be divided into groups for the purposes of developing a presentation to the class on a specific topic related to American public education. Each group will be assigned a date during which time a presentation is expected to be delivered via the Blackboard Discussion Board. Each group is expected to employ some sort of presentation software (e.g. PowerPoint, webquest, wiki or other means) to present information on the given topic, provide a prompt(s) to course-mates to facilitate discussion and monitor responses. Once prompt(s) is posted, course-mates will typically have two-three days to post their responses. Each class member (other than group members) must post one original thread (approximately 150-300 words) and respond to two others (approximately 50-150 words). Each group member should be an obvious presence online although there are no specific requirements for numbers of comments posted. As you organize the information to present, consider what prospective teachers need to know about your topic. Seek to make the content relevant and the prompts engaging. Assessment from these group activities will come from the group presentation, effective monitoring of the Discussion Board, self/group assessment and participation in other group discussions.

“Critical Incidents Reflections and Images” (CIRIs) and Field Experience Report (75 points)

The purpose of the field experience is to provide you with the opportunity to (1) connect the goals of the course to classroom/school practice, (2) gain exposure to a variety of classroom/school communities, and (3) promote critical, self-reflection about the practice of teaching and the culture of schools. For this portion of the class you will pair with a peer in class and engage in a 15-hour field experience (both candidates are required to complete 15 hours). You and your partner must co-observe at half of the required hours. Therefore, you must coordinate your schedules with those of the mentor teacher to whom you will be assigned. The remaining hours can be done without your partner. You are expected to keep detailed field notes of your observations. Your mentor teacher will also complete a log indicating dates, times, subject area, grade levels (see Appendix A).

Each day you are in your fieldwork site (with or without your partner), you will record field notes of what you have observed, practices you appreciate, and questions you’ve considered as a result of your observations. Three of the most significant instances or episodes will be logged as “Critical Incidents Reflections and Images” (CIRI) (see Appendix B). Follow the specific guidelines for these incidents as you record them and even be ready to analyze the data you gather and discuss in class. As a part of each CIRI you should include a related artifact and/or image, which may be a picture/drawing of the incident, or an artifact that helps illustrate the episode (e.g. document handed out to students). At the end of your field experience, you will use your journal and these CIRI forms to prepare a “Field Experience Report” with your partner. In this paper (a maximum of five double-spaced pages), you will analyze and compare field notes in order to develop ONE paper that synthesizes your experiences. Included in your paper will be analysis of your “critical incidents” and discussion of how curricula, instructional methods, and school culture influenced student success in the setting(s) you observed. This report should also include images, examples, and evidence from your field experience to illustrate the conclusions you and your partner draw.

Field Experience Guidelines

The following suggested field experience activities are designed to help you prepare for writing your paper analyzing teaching styles and classroom management preferences.

- Observe a discussion session for the kinds of student participation that occur. How often are students asked to participate in divergent thinking? How often are students asked to participate in convergent thinking?
- Observe teaching techniques to determine which ones involve students in convergent thinking and which ones involve students in divergent thinking activities.
- Observe a lesson and determine how many academic disciplines the teacher has decided to use in that lesson. How are these various disciplines integrated?
- Observe a “discovery” lesson to determine the nature of the investigation and its outcome.
- Observe an “inquiry” lesson to determine the nature of the investigation and its outcome.
- Observe a lesson in which individualization of instruction is a major focus. How does the instructor plan for helping students at different skill levels improve their expertise?
- Talk with the cooperating teacher about the kinds of controversial issues which his/her students may be studying. Ask permission to observe a session in which a controversial issue is being examined so that you can determine what the issue is and its resolution(s).
- Talk with the cooperating teacher to find out which method(s) he/she prefers to use and why: “discovery,” “inquiry,” problem-solving discussion, simulations, lectures, directed reading of primary sources, directed reading of secondary sources, “practice” exercises, learning centers, cooperative learning, individual research, group research/labs, activities using software and/or the internet, etc.
- Observe rules and procedures to determine potential preferences for relationship/listening, confronting/contracting, or rules/consequences approaches to classroom management.

Notes: Please be sure to speak with your mentor teacher before you engage with individual or small groups of students in particular activities related to our EDUC 422/522 class. All proper names should be omitted from your reflections and other documentation shared with our class.

Field Experience Letter

College of Education and Human Development

4400 University Drive, Robinson A 320, MS 4B3
Fairfax, Virginia 22030
Phone: 703-993-5252

Dear educator:

My name is Anthony Pellegrino, an assistant professor of secondary education at George Mason University, and I write as the instructor for EDUC 522, "Foundations of Secondary Education." This course is taken by future secondary (grades 6-12) teachers, and as a part of the course students are required to complete 15 hours of field experience in grades 6-12. Specifically, these students are required to work with you and your students in a school setting at a grade level/subject area of their choice. You have been identified as a teacher in a school where the Mason student bearing this letter might complete these 15 hours of field experience. With this letter I hope to provide some information about the expectations for you and this Mason student, and invite you to work with this future teacher. EDUC 522 focuses on the philosophical assumptions, curriculum issues, learning theories, current educational trends/issues, and history associated with teaching styles and secondary schools. For most of the Mason students in this course, this is one of their first education courses. Thus, they will have widely varying levels of experience working with adolescents and young adults. Our expectations for this field experience includes the following:

- Mason students will complete a minimum of 15 hours of tutoring, observation with the possibility of general interaction with students in your classroom
- The goal of this experience is for the Mason student to become familiar with the general day-to-day efforts of youth and teachers in secondary settings, including learning styles, curricula, teaching strategies, teaching and learning challenges, management strategies, etc.
- I would hope that the Mason student would be given guidance from you regarding strategies to use to support students and their learning, and that, if appropriate, you may even allow the Mason student to plan some interventions of her or his own (with input from you)
- In addition, the Mason student might observe your classroom instruction, work with an individual or small group of students, work with an individual student or small groups on assignments or projects, check papers or tests and so forth.

Our hope is that this student will begin to work in your classroom by the sixth week of the Mason semester. Please note that field experiences should occur over a minimum of 4 visits to your classroom/school, with a maximum length of any one visit of 4 hours. These schedule requirements are meant to encourage the Mason student to visit your classroom and work with you and your students with some frequency, for meaningful periods of time, over a substantial length of time. Ultimately you will be asked to sign off on the schedule of field experiences this student completed.

Please contact me with any questions you might have about this experience and also complete the agreement page attached to this letter. And thank you for your support of this Mason student and her/his development as a future teacher.

Sincerely,

Anthony Pellegrino, PhD
