EDUC 874. The Achievement Gap. In this class students consider “the achievement gap” as a popularized mainstream narrative in U.S. education research, policy, and practice. Grounded in research documenting the legacy of inequalities in America’s schools and the achievement gap’s conceptualization as a problem to be studied and solved, the course considers the historical roots and reproduction of school inequities by race, class, culture, ability, language, ableism, and other forms of difference. Students engage in cross-disciplinary research studies, perspectives, and frameworks to interrogate the historical, political, and structural dimensions of the achievement gap and what might be done to close it. Instructor: Dr. Linda Mann.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Focuses on achievement gap in schools. Students research and analyze gaps in student achievement related to race and ethnicity, limited English proficiency, family background, gender, poverty, and ableism, and practices designed to close the gap.

LEARNER OUTCOMES or OBJECTIVES:

This course is designed to enable students to:

- Develop an understanding of the achievement gap in schools today including, its causes, its effects, its solutions, and the implications for policy formation;
- Deconstruct and explore in detail one aspect of the achievement gap, e.g. poverty, race, gender, teacher quality, student assessment practices, etc.;
- Explore “gap-generated” school reform models for their promise and for the barriers that need to be addressed;
- Prepare an in-depth analysis of one aspect of the gap related to her/his local setting.

DELIVERY METHOD:

This course is a doctoral seminar, and my teaching style revolves around the concept of “learning via conversation.” As such it is expected that you will read in advance of class and continue to try to find the bigger picture as you learn to sort through the findings of one study to the next. In addition to classroom attendance and participation, I expect you to participate fully in whole class and small group discussions, group, pair, and individual projects, Internet research, analyses of case studies, and reflections on practice. I will use GMU’s web-accessible Blackboard course (<https://mymasonportal.gmu.edu/webapps/portal/frameset.jsp>) framework throughout the course; many of the examples are posted there for you to read in advance of our discussions.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS AND EXAMINATIONS:

Assignment Due date: May2, 2016. There is only one assignment and that is to prepare a 15-20 page paper on one dimension of the achievement gap that is found in your own school or (if you're not working in a school) that is an area of interest for you and to explore:

- 1) the nature of that dimension e.g. LEP, inequitable access to knowledge, etc.;
- 2) how it contributes to the gap with data to support your case, e.g. performance of LEP students;
- 3) the policy debate surrounding it (what policies and practices have tried to help close this gap?);
- 4) a discussion of promising practices that might close this dimension of the gap with supporting evidence from research and evaluation studies.

Since this is a doctoral class, your entire grade rests on this paper. By no later than February 15 please provide me with a one-paragraph description of your topic as well as an abbreviated reference list. These submissions are mandatory and are a way for me to assist you in defining the dimension of the achievement gap you will explore.

All assignments must be completed in MSWord and submitted to BB in the assignments page. Paper must be formatted according to APA Publication Manual, 6th edition. Late assignments will not be accepted without making prior arrangements with me. See Assessment Rubrics for more detail. However, in general the following outlines the expectations of your final paper.

Evaluation and Grading

3 = highly accomplished (letter grade = A). The paper clearly delineates the nature of the area that the literature suggests, "causes" the achievement gap. The discussion includes research studies in which the data clearly indicate the gap. The student also presents a deep discussion of the policies enacted that are intended to alter practice to close the gap, and lastly, there is a solid presentation and critique of the promising practices designed to close the gap and a judgment of their strengths and weaknesses.

2 = adequate (letter grade = B). The paper describes the nature of the area as a “cause.” The student includes a general and abstract discussion of the research literature to date and identifies some policies enacted to close the gap, and lastly there is some discussion of the promising practices that is more perspective than critique.

1= needs rewriting (letter grade = C). The literature and reads more like a “thought” paper than an analysis of the research literature, the policies enacted, and the effects of those promising practices to date.

TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS:

To participate in this course, students will need the following resources:

- High-speed Internet access with a standard up-to-date browser, either Internet Explorer or Mozilla Firefox. Opera and Safari are not compatible with Blackboard;
- Consistent and reliable access to their GMU email and Blackboard, as these are the official methods of communication for this course
- Students may be asked to create logins and passwords on supplemental websites and/or to download trial software to their computer or tablet as part of the course requirements.
- The following software plug-ins for Pcs and Macs respectively, available for free downloading by clicking on the link next to each plug-in:
 - Adobe Acrobat Reader: <http://get.adobe.com/reader/>
 - Windows Media Player: <http://windows.microsoft.com/en-US/windows/downloads/windows-media-player>
 - Apple QuickTime Player: www.apple.com/quicktime/download/

CEHD Course Expectations

The College of Education and Human Development (CEHD) expects that all students abide by the following:

- Attendance: Attendance is mandatory, as the discussions that take place in this class are essential to achieving the course objectives.
- Tardiness: Prompt arrival for the beginning of class is expected.
- Participation: Each student is expected to complete all the assigned readings and participate in the discussions. It is expected that each student will be attuned to group dynamics in order to ensure the active participation of all in the class.
- Absence: If you must miss a class, you are responsible for notifying me (preferably in advance) and for completing any assignments, readings, etc. before the start of the next class.
- Assignments: All assignments must be completed in MSWord and sent to me as an attachment via email prior to class. Late assignments will not be accepted without making prior arrangements with me.

- Honor Code: Students must adhere to the guidelines of the George Mason University Honor Code [See <http://oai.gmu.edu/the-mason-honor-code/>].
- Computing: Students must follow the university policy stating that all sound emitting devices shall be turned off during class unless otherwise authorized by the instructor. Cell phones, pagers, and other communicative devices are not allowed in this class. Please keep them stowed away and out of sight. Laptops or tablets (e.g. iPads) are permitted for the purpose of taking notes only. Engaging in activities not related to the course (e.g. gaming, email, chat, etc.) will result in a significant reduction in your participation grade. [See <http://universitypolicy.gmu.edu/policies/responsible-use-of-computing/>].
- Email: Students are responsible for the content of university communications sent to their George Mason University email account and are required to activate their account and check it regularly. All communication from the university, college, school, and program will be sent to students solely through their Mason email account.
- Dispositions: Students are expected to exhibit professional behaviors and dispositions at all times.
- Core Values Commitment: The College of Education & Human Development is committed to collaboration, ethical leadership, innovation, research-based practice, and social justice. Students are expected to adhere to these principles. <http://cehd.gmu.edu/values/>
- Students must adhere to the guidelines of the George Mason University Honor Code (See <http://oai.gmu.edu/the-mason-honor-code/>).

GMU RESOURCES FOR STUDENTS

- a. Students must follow the university policy for Responsible Use of Computing (See <http://universitypolicy.gmu.edu/policies/responsible-use-of-computing/>).
- b. The George Mason University Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) staff consists of professional counseling and clinical psychologists, social workers, and counselors who offer a wide range of services (e.g., individual and group counseling, workshops and outreach programs) to enhance students' personal experience and academic performance [See <http://caps.gmu.edu/>].
- c. The George Mason University Writing Center staff provides a variety of resources and services (e.g., tutoring, workshops, writing guides, handbooks) intended to support students as they work to construct and share knowledge through writing [See <http://writingcenter.gmu.edu/>].
- d. Exceptional Needs: Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the George Mason University Office of Disability Services

(ODS) and inform their instructor, in writing, at the beginning of the semester [See <http://ods.gmu.edu/>].

For additional information on the College of Education and Human Development, Graduate School of Education, please visit our website <http://gse.gmu.edu/>.

PROFESSIONAL DISPOSITIONS

Students are expected to exhibit professional behaviors and dispositions at all times.

CORE VALUES COMMITMENT

Grading Criteria for Written Assignments

	Levels of Performance
	Unsatisfactory	Basic (C)	Proficient (B)	Distinguished (A)
Quality of Work	Unacceptable	The literature and reads more like a “thought” paper than an analysis of the research literature, the policies enacted, and the effects of those promising practices to date.	The paper describes the nature of the area as a “cause.” The student includes a general and abstract discussion of the research literature to date and identifies some policies enacted to close the gap, and lastly there is some discussion of the promising practices that is more perspective than critique.	The paper clearly delineates the nature of the area that the literature suggests, “causes” the achievement gap. The discussion includes research studies in which the data clearly indicate the gap. The student also presents a deep discussion of the policies enacted that are intended to alter practice to close the gap, and lastly, there is a solid presentation and critique of the promising practices designed to close the gap and a judgment of their strengths and weaknesses.
Completeness of Work	Difficult to recognize as the assigned task.	Insufficient evidence of understanding and application; important elements missing or difficult to find. References are not correctly cited. APA is not adhered to.	Moderate shortcomings; minor elements missing that distract the instructor’s ability to see the product as a whole. Evidence of effort, but one or more significant points are missed or not addressed. Some references are missing or APA is not always adhered to.	100 % complete and error free. Accurate and seamless writing; virtually a complete product. Adheres to APA 6 th ed. All references are correctly cited.
Timeliness	Assignments missed or not submitted. Incompletes not made up.	Assignments excessively or repeatedly late.	Assignments late more than once without prior conversation with instructor. Not necessarily chronic.	100% on time. Almost always on time; rare but forgivable tardiness (such a serious or personal family illness). Instructor is notified in advance.
