University Catalog Course Description

Focuses on critical reflection regarding effects of teacher actions on others; develops skills as a reflective practitioner; presents research-based rationales for instructional decision-making.

Course Description

The internship seminar is a course taken during students' internship experience. The seminar is an ongoing exchange in which interns are both participants and developers. Interns are expected to share their own experiences in their classrooms and school communities. Students engage in and discuss what it means to participate in an ongoing process of professional development as teachers and learners.

Course Delivery Method

This is a seminar course.

Course Learning Outcomes/Objectives

In concert with the goals and objectives of the Secondary Education internship, seminar students will:

- Develop skills of reflective practitioners; continually evaluate their practices, particularly the effects of their professional choices and professional interactions with others
- Demonstrate abilities to critically reflect upon teaching episodes and willingness to propose and/or accept alternative approaches
- Present thoughtful research-based rationales for instructional decision-making
- Collaborate with other teacher interns and in professional learning communities to discuss internship challenges and successes related to lessons, activities, and assessments which align with learning objectives and evidence of student learning
- Explore ways to elicit data related to student background (e.g., interests, needs, culture), school, and community, and make sensitive use of this information

Professional Standards

The course focuses on support and discussion related to designing classroom environments that meet the needs of all learners as called for by the Standards of Learning for Virginia Public Schools and each professional content standard and as outlined, Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation, CAEP, each of the content SPAs, and the Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (InTASC).

Textbook and Resource Materials Required

No textbook purchase is required for this course. A current subscription to Edthena is required. Access to Internet and Blackboard are required.

TK20 PERFORMANCE-BASED ASSESSMENT SUBMISSION REQUIREMENT

Every student registered for any Secondary Education course with a required performance-based assessment is required to submit this assessment, [NOT APPLICABLE] to Tk20 through Blackboard (regardless of whether the student is taking the course as an elective, a onetime course or as part of an undergraduate minor). Evaluation of the performance-based assessment by the course instructor will also be completed in Tk20 through Blackboard. Course Requirements:

Class Participation (weekly)

Your attendance and participation at your school and seminar sessions is critical not only to your own success, but to that of your colleagues. Attendance and participation are expected in both your classroom and in seminars, but emergencies do arise. Please notify your cooperating teacher and your supervisor if you will be tardy or absent from your internship or seminar. Excessive late arrivals, lack of preparation, and any unsatisfactory absence—one that is not pre-arranged and/or approved by an instructor—will severely and negatively impact your grade. Projects late due to unsatisfactory absences will be accepted at the discretion of the instructor. Attendance and completion of seminar assignments can affect whether or not you successfully complete your internship. Please turn all electronic devices on silent when you enter class.

Becoming a Reflective Practitioner (weekly)

You are becoming a professional teacher. Be open to new experiences, ideas, challenges, and your continuous professional development.

It is your responsibility to come to class with insights, questions, comments, and concerns based on your internship experience. The quality of our conversations and your growth will be largely based on your commitment to engaging deeply with your student teaching experience. In order to reflect on your own learning and to be ready to discuss your insights, questions, you will need to keep a daily journal (physical or electronic) of your experience. This will be a private place for you to keep track of best practices, big ideas, and burning issues. Please bring your journal to the seminars and conferences. In conjunction with your working portfolio, maintain a notebook in which you make substantive entries every day you are in the field. Entries may consist of a description of a particular experience that day, questions and concerns about the incident, and thoughts about how you will respond to this experience in the future. In addition, you will complete a reflection form (see Appendix A) each week. Post it on our Blackboard discussion site (see below).

Weekly Blackboard Discussion Board Participation (weekly)

You are expected to log on a several times a week to check for assignments, posts, and/or participate in online discussions. Your online commitment includes the following tasks:

Posting of your weekly reflection based on your internship experience (see Appendix A). Each week there will be a new thread available for your weekly reflection. The weekly reflection is due no later than Sunday by 11:59 pm.

As a critical friend you will respond to your colleague’s weekly reflection on Blackboard by the time we meet for class. Your responses to your colleague’s posts should be respectful, intellectually curious, and go beyond the superficial (e.g. “That’s great!”).

Reflection about Lesson Plans (selected date)

On the date you select, bring to seminar one complete lesson plan that you recently taught, an uploaded video on Edthena, as well as any teaching tools you used and a sample of student work produced in this lesson. This can be a lesson and/or video that you shared with your university supervisor. You will show a portion (1-3 minutes) of the video in class that you want to further evaluate, reflect on, and discuss with your peers. Come prepared to discuss, reflect, and ask and answer questions. The presentation and discussion will be about 10-12 minutes long.

*Note: A week prior to your presentation of the lesson plan, you will share the video through Edthena with your critical friends and post a reflection on that lesson. You and your critical friends will reflect and discuss the 10-15 minute long video. Like your weekly reflection, your responses to your colleague's video and reflection should be respectful, intellectually curious, and go beyond the superficial.

Community Mapping (Feb 15)

It is important for you to know your students, their families, and the surrounding community. Your job is to explore and learn about the community. You will create a digital map (e.g., Google maps) with details about the following information:

1. What kinds of retail options are available in the community?
2. Are there recreational spaces (i.e. parks, community centers) for children and teenagers?
3. What grocery and food options are there?
4. What additional resources are available to the community (i.e. university, library)?
5. Are there local cultural (i.e. art centers, theaters), historical (i.e. historical plaques, archives) and environmental resources (i.e. city, state, or federal parks, zoo) in or near the community?
6. Additional resources or information that you think is necessary to know (i.e. traffic patterns, socioeconomics, racial mix in neighborhoods).

You will present your findings in a one to two page paper. Be ready to also present your map and findings to the class. Here are some guiding questions to help you write your results:

1. Overall, what did you learn about the community?
2. What did you learn about the community that surprised you?
3. How could community mapping be useful in your class/impact your teaching practices?
4. In what ways, if any, were your perceptions changed or enhanced by learning a little more about the community you work in?

Attendance Policy

Attendance in the course is mandatory. If you cannot come to a specific class session due to a schedule conflict, notify the instructor at least one week in advance for an excused absence. Attendance is tied into your participation grade. If you are not in class, you are not participating.

Late Work

Work is due on the announced due date. All late work will incur a penalty of 10 percent for each day late. The only exception to this is for those students with excused absences (see Attendance Policy above).

Course Requirements and Grading Scale

All assignments should be turned in on the due date indicated in the schedule below via Blackboard (unless directed otherwise) by midnight. All projects must be typed, in 12-point font, with one inch margins, double-spaced, in Times New Roman font. Professional writing quality (including mechanics, organization, and content) is expected in each writing assignment, so please proofread carefully. Late papers and projects will not be accepted without penalty (10% each day late), excepting extraordinary circumstances. Please see instructor with questions and concerns about assignments, expectations, or seminar activities.
