You will log in to the Blackboard (Bb) course site using your Mason email name (everything before @masonlive.gmu.edu) and email password. The course site will be available by Aug. 20th at the latest.

Since some of this course may be held synchronously online, under no circumstances, may candidates/students participate in online class sessions (either by phone or Internet) while operating motor vehicles. Further, as expected in a face-to-face class meeting, such online participation requires undivided attention to course content and communication.

This course will be delivered using multiple instructional strategies and formats including synchronous and asynchronous online meetings. Individual session formats vary and may include mini-lessons, small group/large group discussion, hands-on, interactive work, student presentations, and cooperative learning. Practical applications of theory are explored via group activities. Each week, asynchronous activities should be completed prior to our class meetings. A detailed schedule is included in the "Class Schedule" section below.

1. Assignment Descriptions

a. Participation

This course operates with the assumption that knowledge is socially constructed and the most meaningful learning opportunities are those where you have the opportunity to offer and explore diverse perspectives with peers. To do this it is expected that you are on time and attend all scheduled F2F classes and asynchronous/synchronous online meetings outlined within the syllabus. Absence from class to observe a religious holiday, to serve jury duty, or to participate in required military service, and medical emergencies are exceptions to the above policy. If you anticipate being absent for any of these reasons, please make arrangements at least 48 hours in advance. In addition, you are expected to be on time to class each week unless advance notice has been provided to the instructor.

Class participation is vitally important in a course such as this. Each class session we will have readings to discuss, ideas to unpack, and activities to do. Not participating will be reflected with a zero for the week and as an absence. Students with two or more absences will not receive credit for the course.

In addition to the readings, you may be asked to watch videos, collect information, or explore other online resources prior to class. Sometimes, guiding question(s) or tasks related to the readings and these resources will be posted to establish a purpose for reading. These guiding questions or activities will be directly related to discussion for the session. Activities may require you to respond to a specific question, create a representation of ideas from the reading (e.g. concept map, picture), or analyze a piece of text or student work based on your understandings of the readings and other resources. The products of these activities support learning in class meetings. Additionally, classroom activities may include simulations, debates, book club meetings, examination of student work, and quickwrites.

Different discussion structures will be organized to maximize participation and community building. This includes partners, small groups, and whole class discussion. You will be responsible for participating in discussion according to the expectations and norms decided upon on the first day of class. These expectations and norms will also apply for online discussion as dictated by our schedule.

When on Zoom, you will use your webcam in small group discussions and when you address the whole group.

The professor reserves the right to modify or alter assignments, tasks, due dates, and other requirements during the duration of the course to maximize the learning experience.

b. Educational History

We know from the research literature that our prior school experiences as a student (a.k.a. our apprenticeship of observation - Lortie, 1974) wield incredible influence on our views of teaching and learning. Therefore, it is essential that we explore our K-12 school experiences so that each of us is aware of the pre-existing perceptions that we bring to teacher preparation. This is also an opportunity for me to get to know you better as a learner and to find out the ways in which I can build upon your experiences and support your interests, strengths, skills, and perceived challenges or weaknesses.

Your Educational History should be 2-4 pages in length and should be an introspective summary/reflection on your memories of teaching/learning across your educational experiences:

- Elementary school
- Middle school
- High School
- College

Questions to guide your introspection and reflection can include:

- When was a time that you felt seen as individual or as a learner by an educator (e.g. teacher, coach, advisor, staff member, principal, professor, etc.)? Why? What did that person see that others did not?
- What strengths and strategies have you employed to be successful in your educational experiences? When was a time these strategies were not successful?
- What challenges have you encountered in your educational experiences? Why do you think you encountered them? What was the outcome?
- When was a time that you felt unseen/misunderstood/overlooked as an individual or as a learner by an educator (e.g. teacher, coach, advisor, staff member, principal, professor, etc.)? Why?

Your Educational History is due February 16 by midnight. You will submit it through the Assessments tab on Blackboard.

c. Teacher Beliefs: Developing a Vision Statement

You will identify, develop, and refine your beliefs about what teaching and learning entails. These beliefs will likely to shift, grow, and deepen as you gain more experience in the classroom and deepen your knowledge of theory and practice. As we begin this program, we often aspire to something that we are not yet able to do or that we don't do consistently. This assignment serves as an initial tool to uncover what we think is best for teaching and learning and whether this is reflected in our actual teaching practice to support the acquisition of new knowledge and reflective examination of your own teaching practice.

Throughout the course, we will reflect on the prompts below and consider how they relate to one another. We will also take time to consider areas that intersect and sources of tension in your beliefs and preferred practices. You will create a 'working document' (format discussed in class) that reflects how your thoughts are changing/evolving and we will revisit this to refine/expand your thoughts.

Your 'working document' should include your final beliefs statement which will address each of the following prompts:

- I believe that learning...
- I believe that teaching...
- I believe the purpose of schooling is...
- I believe my classroom is...
- I believe my students learn best when they...
- I believe my students learn best when I...
- I believe community/family is/are...
- I believe collaboration is...
- My professional goals as a teacher are...

This document serves as an evolving draft of your beliefs and you will submit this draft in Blackboard under the Assessment tab. Your ideas are expected to be "in progress" so questions and wonderings are acceptable for this draft, due on February 23. We will be discussing them in class on February 23rd. You will receive 5 points for turning in this draft on time.

The final Vision Statement should draw upon your draft and other sources of reflective learning and be only 1-3 sentences. Ergo, this should be succinct and get at the core of what you believe about teaching and learning. For example, here is my vision statement:

My vision as a teacher educator is to develop future teachers who embrace and validate cultural and linguistic differences by carefully building relationships as well as creating a collaborative learning community that best allows instruction to occur for all students to meet all their social, emotional, and academic needs.

Your final vision statement is due on April 27. You will upload your statement as well as your final full draft/notes.

d. Digital Learning Modules: Supporting our Military Connected Children in School Settings: Moving Them from Risk to Resilience

These modules were specially developed by our college to educate aspiring and practicing school personnel about the culture of the military, challenges frequently faced by military families, and strategies school personnel can use to meet the diverse needs of this special population. Once you have completed the modules, please screenshot the last page of both modules OR PRINT and save as a PDF file. Upload to Blackboard under Assessments tab.

To access and view the modules, you will first need to create an account on TTAC Online: <https://ttaonline.org/Account/Register>. Once you login, you will be able to access modules via the following links:

Module 1 - <https://ttaonline.org/Online-Training/MLbTE3FyBnHqoY94Q5CIogeWNtaMn-Du/Online-Training-supporting-our-militaryconnected-children-in-school-settings-moving-them-from-risk-to-resilience-->

Your screenshot or PDF is due April 20 by midnight.

e. Professional Issues for Teachers: Roundtable discussion

What professional issues confront teachers in their day to day lives? For this assignment, you can consider an education issue as it relates to culture, religion, race, language, ability, gender, and socioeconomic class, as well as any broader topic of your interest.

To this end, you will select and analyze a professional issue that is of particular interest or importance to you. You will research this issue, noting historical significance and current trends/perspectives based on peer-reviewed articles. You will reflect upon how this issue relates to your own experiences, with connections to your current field placement.

You will create a video of you presenting your roundtable topic. The video can be uploaded to YouTube or another video streaming service. You will post the URL in Blackboard's Discussion Board. You will view three classmates videos and post a comment and a question related to the topic (no more than three people may respond to a video). You will answer the questions posted on your video. A rubric will be provided at a later date with specific components.

The process of brainstorming, research, and initial analysis of your issue will be supported in class with a virtual visit with Education Librarian (Anne Driscoll,) as well as peer conferences.

Roundtable video is due on March 23 by midnight. Comments are to be posted by March 30.

f. Special Education (SPED) and English Language Learner (ELL) Portfolios ---- PBA

The purpose of this assignment is to integrate your course readings and field experience observations. This will be accomplished through the completion of a series of activities that include readings/reflections, as well as observations. Four Parts will be uploaded into Blackboard to create a portfolio.

3. Grading Policies

At George Mason University course work is measured in terms of quantity and quality. A credit normally represents one hour per week of lecture or recitation or not fewer than two hours per week of laboratory work throughout a semester. The number of credits is a measure of quantity. The grade is a measure of quality. The university-wide system for grading graduate courses is as follows:

Grade	Grading Scale	Interpretation
A	93-100	Represents mastery of the subject through effort beyond basic requirements
A-	90-92
B+	87-89	Reflects an understanding of and the ability to apply theories and principles at a basic level
B	83-86
B-	80-82	Denotes an unacceptable level of understanding and application of the basic elements of the course. Grade does not meet the minimum requirement for licensure courses.
C	70-79
F	<69

In order to receive an A+ in this course all participation, assignments (written and oral) as well as discussion must be at the very highest level and represent the highest level of discourse in the Elementary Education program.

Remember: A course grade less than B requires that you retake the course.*

Note: “C” is not satisfactory for a licensure course; “F” does not meet requirements of the School of Education.

4. Other Expectations

APA format:

All written papers are expected to be double-spaced, with 1” margins, and in 12-point font (Times New Roman, Calibri, or Arial). APA format is expected. If you do not have a 7th Edition APA manual, please use the APA website (<http://www.apastyle.org/>) or the OWL at Purdue as a resource (<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>).

Please Note: The GMU Writing Center offers online support via email. They will provide feedback on your writing within one hour. Graduate and professional writing can be difficult; I encourage you to take advantage of this service. http://writingcenter.gmu.edu/?page_id=177

Late work policy:

It is expected that all class assignments will be submitted on time to the correct location: late assignments will not receive full credit. All assignments must be submitted via Blackboard on the due date stated within the syllabus (see below) prior to class. If extraordinary circumstances prevent you from submitting your work in a timely manner, it is your responsibility to contact the instructor as soon as possible after the circumstances occur and make arrangements to complete your work. It is up to the discretion of the instructor to approve the late/makeup work. Assignments turned in late without prior communication will receive an automatic deduction of one letter grade making the highest possible score equivalent to 80% (B).

Revise & Resubmit:

If a student submits an assignment that may indicate limited understanding or confusion about the content as indicated by scoring on the assignment rubric, the instructor may request for a student to revise and resubmit the assignment based on feedback. This is an opportunity for a student to clarify understanding of the content and demonstrate growth. In most cases, the original assignment and revision will be averaged for a new final grade. The instructor will communicate with the student to determine a reasonable timeframe within which to complete the revision.

Professional Dispositions: See <https://cehd.gmu.edu/students/policies-procedures/>

TENTATIVE CLASS SCHEDULE:

Note: Faculty reserves the right to alter the schedule as necessary, with notification to students. Content of some classes may be switched.
