- Assignments and/or Examinations

Virginia State and Local Civic Education Module (5 points)

Students will complete an online module on state and local civic education required for teacher licensure in Virginia. The module can be found through this link

(<https://www.civiceducationva.org/>). Students will upload the completion certificate to Blackboard.

Exploring Digital Technology Tools to Enhance and Extend Young Children’s Learning and Engagement (5 points)

Students will identify two digital technology tools that can be leveraged to extend and enhance young children’s learning. Students will use the SAMR language to evaluate the tool and describe how the tool can be used to enrich children’s learning. Students will emphasize how the digital tool promotes children’s high order thinking skills (e.g., analyzing, evaluating, and creating). The tools will be shared with the entire class on a Google Doc. The collective Google Doc will be available to students throughout the semester to support the unit planning process.

Authentic Children’s Literature for Examining History and Social Sciences Themes with Young Learners (5 points)

Students will identify 5 children’s texts that exemplify diverse history and social sciences themes and standards. While there may be some overlap in themes, each text identified should clearly relate to different National Council of Social Studies themes and Virginia Standards of Learning for History and Social Sciences (i.e., history, geography, economics, and civics), or Virginia’s Early Learning and Development Standards. Students are encouraged to use texts identified by the National Council of Social Studies. Lists and websites will be provided to help guide students' selection. A template will be provided. Two of the texts will be used as springboards for the instructional plans submitted later in the semester.

Teaching Economics Using Children's Literature Experience Share (10 points)

Students will work in small groups to plan and engage the rest of the class in an exploration of economics concepts as examined in the text Teaching Economics Using Children's Literature. Each group will select a different lesson experience from the text to prepare. Specific attention will be paid to developing peers' understandings of specific economics content. Presentations will also connect experiences to the Virginia Standards of Learning. Selected readings will be determined at the beginning of the class based on group preferences.

Integrated History and Social Sciences Instructional Plans (40 points)

Students will develop one integrated lesson plans grounded in specific National Curriculum Standards for Social Studies and the Virginia Standards of Learning for kindergarten, first, second, or third grade or Virginia's Early Learning and Development Standards. For the lesson plan, students will emphasize learning outcomes articulated within at least one of the following strands: History, Geography, Economics, or Civics. Each lesson plan will relate strategically to an authentic children's literature text. Each lesson plan will integrate the history and social sciences theme selected into at least one other academic area of study for the primary grades (e.g., science, mathematics, music, fine arts, reading, and writing). Accordingly, the instructional plan will incorporate knowledge and understandings of learning standards in history and social sciences, as well as other content area standards. The lesson plan will use technology to enhance children's learning. At the end of the course, students will share their lesson plans with the class. For this assignment students will develop and submit the following:

- Lesson Plan #1: History and Social Sciences Through Children's Literature and Primary Sources (Group Project) 20 points

Students will develop one, integrated history and social sciences plans over the course of the semester. The plan will be related to at least one history and social sciences Virginia Standards of Learning or Virginia's Early Learning and Development Standards strand (i.e., history, geography, economics, and citizenship). Each plan will also reflect at least one of the 10 themes of history and social sciences as defined by the National Council of Social Studies. The lesson will provide the following:

- An overview of the lesson,
 - A rationale for the social studies themes selected, and
 - A justification for the activities developed to promote children's understandings of essential social studies knowledge and processes
- The lesson plan will use the Mason Lesson Planning Frame and clearly articulate the following details:
 - Grade level
 - Primary national social studies theme(s),
 - Specific history and social sciences Virginia Standards of Learning or Virginia's Early Learning and Development Standards to be addressed (these could be global),
 - Technology integrated into the lesson to enhance student engagement,

- Secondary content area integrated into the lesson to complement the history and social sciences concepts,
- Assessment products to consider developing to document and demonstrate children's knowledge of identified academic standards.

History and Social Sciences Through Children's Literature and Primary Sources (20 points) (Finding Langston)

Students will submit work collaboratively to create a unit plan that strategically embeds the use of primary sources to support children's understandings of the history and social sciences themes relevant in Finding Langston by Lesa Cline-Ransome. Time in class and outside of class will be utilized to complete the collaborative project and guidance will be provided throughout the process by the course instructor. The design process will be iterative and further guidance supporting the project will be available in Blackboard as the project unfolds.

Individually students will to the following:

- Use the reading journal to document their thinking as they read the chapter book Finding Langston. The reading journal will support students' identification of the primary history and social sciences themes evidenced in the story.
- Come prepared each class to contribute meaningfully to the planning process to generate specific experiences for young learners.
- Complete assigned small group tasks in a timely fashion outside of class to support the group's progress forward.
- Submit a final reflection describing their experiences designing the integrated unit. Reflections will include a description of what they learned through the process related to 1) social studies content knowledge and 2) instructional practices for engaging young learners in explorations of the social studies.

In small and whole groups students will do the following:

- Complete reflective group status logs to document the group's progress.
- Identify the relevant history and social sciences standards and themes explored in the text.
- Create an interactive experience that leverages primary sources and allows children to enhance and show their understandings of the primary standards articulated.
- Design a set of strategic questions that encourage children to grapple with complex history and social sciences themes.
- Select artifacts from the Library of Congress archives or other credible resource sites to facilitate the lesson and actively engage young learners.
- Integrate another academic area of study for the primary grades (e.g., science, mathematics, music, fine arts, reading, and writing) to enrich the history and social sciences lesson.
 - Identify the additional content area standards selected to extend students' understandings of complex history and social sciences themes.
- Design an assessment product/project allows children to enhance and show their understandings of the primary standards articulated (the history and social science standards and the other academic area).
- Include an assessment tool for evaluating children's understandings of the primary

- standards articulated.
- Use the lesson plan template provided on Blackboard to describe all aspects of the lesson.
- Detail in the lesson plan template how they will facilitate the lesson to actively engage young learners in an exploration of the selected history and social sciences standards and the primary source materials.
- Include a separate descriptive rationale in the form of an introductory set of paragraphs to justify the specific standards selected and articulate how the lesson promotes and enhances young children’s understandings of history and social sciences themes because of its relationship to the children’s text. Use citations from current research from the textbook, class discussions, and/or handouts in their rationale using APA format to support their assertions.
- Provide appendices for this lesson that include all additional instructional tools used to support children’s engagement (e.g., graphic organizers, story frames, writing prompts, work-mats, student directions for social studies centers or projects, assessment tools, primary sources, etc.).

Sharing of Group Lesson Plans for Finding Langston (5 points)

Students will come to class prepared to engage the class and guest participants fully in the history and social science learning experiences designed to support learners’ understandings.

Students will come prepared to:

- Immerse participants in explorations of the learning experiences their small group developed.
- Engage participants in conversation about the text Finding Langston.
- Share a polished version of their lesson plan so that it may be used by participants and other ECE students in the future.

Social Studies Flipgrid (10 points)

To promote students’ thoughtful consideration of social studies themes, students will participate in a Social Studies Flipgrid reflection activities. Students will participate in reflection activities that will ask them to connect their understandings of social studies themes and concepts to their own world. Students must participate in five Flipgrid reflection activities (2 points each).

Students will record their responses on Flipgrid, a free platform that allows students to share thoughts and experiences with each other as a class in an easy, fun to use video format.

- Other Requirements

Attendance and Participation (25 points)

Active participation and engagement are imperative for optimal learning. Therefore, students will prepare for and participate in in-class and online activities. Students will be expected to do the following:

- Attend class, arrive on time, and stay for the entire class period for all in-person and online synchronous class sessions.
- Complete all online asynchronous work by the due dates.
- Use laptops and personal devices for instructional purposes only during in-person and online synchronous class sessions.

- Complete readings and prepare for class activities prior to class as evidenced by the ability to discuss, write about, and engage in activities related to the concepts presented and examined in the texts.
- Complete participation activities across the semester that complement the scheduled course topic. Note: Instructors will periodically collect artifacts from the activities.
- Support the participation and learning of classmates. Students in attendance and who actively engage in the learning experience will receive credit for their efforts. Graded participation activities are not announced and are implemented at the discretion of the instructor.
- Show evidence of critical reflective thinking through in-person, online synchronous, and online asynchronous discussions, activities, and written reflections.
- Display professional dispositions at all times when interacting with the instructor, classmates, and other professionals.
- Submit an attendance and participation self-evaluation.

Written Assignments

All formal written assignments will be evaluated for content and presentation. The American Psychological Association, Seventh Edition (APA) style will be followed for all written work. All written work unless otherwise noted must be completed on a word processor and should be proofread carefully. (Use spell check!) If students are not confident of their own ability to catch errors, they should have another person proofread their work. When in doubt, they should check the APA manual. Portions of the APA manual appear at the Style Manuals link on the Mason library website at <http://infoguides.gmu.edu/content.php?pid=39979>. Students may consult the Writing Center for additional writing support.

Students will do the following:

1. Present ideas in a clear, concise, and organized manner. (Avoid wordiness and redundancy.)
2. Develop points coherently, definitively, and thoroughly.
3. Refer to appropriate authorities, studies, and examples to document where appropriate. (Avoid meaningless generalizations, unwarranted assumptions, and unsupported opinions.)
4. Use correct capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and grammar.
5. Type the paper with double spacing, indented paragraphs, 1-inch margins all around, and 12-point Times New Roman font.

- Grading

A = 95-100 A- = 90-94 B+ = 87-89 B = 80-86 C = 70-79 F = <70

Incomplete (IN): This grade may be given to students who are passing a course but who may be unable to complete scheduled coursework for a cause beyond reasonable control.

All CEHD students are held to the university grading policies as described in the Academic Policies section of the current catalog, which can be accessed at <http://catalog.gmu.edu>. Those students enrolled in a CEHD Licensure Graduate Certificate program, however, must earn a B- or better in all graduate licensure coursework. A degree-seeking graduate student will be dismissed after accumulating grades of F in two courses or 9 credits of unsatisfactory grades (C or F) in graduate courses. A 3.0 grade point average is required for completion of the graduate degree.

Professional Dispositions

Students are expected to exhibit professional behaviors and dispositions at all times. See <https://cehd.gmu.edu/students/policies-procedures/>.

Lesson Plan #1 or #2: Exploring History and Social Sciences Themes in Children's Literature (15 points)

Students will use the lesson plan template provided on Blackboard to detail all aspects of the lesson. Students will include the following:

- _____/3 Include an introduction that summarizes the lesson plan and provides a rationale for selecting the specific social studies and content area standards and articulates how the lesson promotes and enhances young children's understandings of social studies themes in relation to the children's text (approximately 1 page).
- _____/1 Select a rich text to engage children in an exploration of the primary social studies theme(s) to be explored. Students are encouraged to use texts identified by the National Council of Social Studies, lists and websites will be provided to help guide students' selection.
- _____/1 Identify the relevant social studies standards and themes explored in the text.
- _____/1 Select specific themes to strategically explore with young learners. These themes and standards will inform students' assessment products/projects and embedded strategic questions.
- _____/2 Select artifacts from the Library of Congress archives to enhance children's understandings of the social studies themes and actively engage young learners. Include a set of strategic questions that encourage children to grapple with complex social studies themes in relation to the primary sources identified.
- _____/2 Detail how they will facilitate the lesson to actively engage young learners in an exploration of the selected social studies standards as they relate to the primary source documents.
- _____/2 Strategically infuse the use of technology
- _____/3 Assessing Children's Understandings
 - Design an assessment product/project that allows children to enhance and show their understandings of the primary standards articulated.
 - Include an assessment tool for evaluating children's understandings of the primary standards articulated.

Use citations from current research from the textbook, class discussions, and/or handouts in their rationale using APA format to support their assertions.

Provide appendices for this lesson that include all additional instructional tools used to support children's engagement (e.g., graphic organizers, story frames, writing prompts, work-mats, student directions for social studies centers or projects, assessment tools, primary sources, etc.). The instructional materials should be the creative genius of the student (i.e., not from Pinterest or Teachers Pay Teachers, etc.).
